◆ Welcome to UIC

A LOOK INSIDE THE HOME OF THE EAGLE RAYS

Step inside United International College — a close-knit campus where students from around the world come to learn, grow, and belong. From the moment you walk through our doors on South Federal Highway, you'll find a community that feels less like an institution and more like a second home.

This guided tour walks you through the spaces that make UIC special: our welcoming reception and student lounge, the offices where faculty and staff mentor students one-on-one, the meeting rooms and classrooms where ideas take shape, and the gallery wall where a quarter-century of graduates looks on.

Proud to be the Home of the Eagle Rays, UIC blends academics, English-language and test-prep programs, and a genuine sense of belonging. Welcome aboard — let's take a look around.

Reception & Welcome

Your first stop

Where it all starts

Every visit begins here. Our front desk greets students and guests with a friendly face, campus information, and a wall of Eagle Rays spirit wear. Whether you're enrolling, asking about classes, or simply stopping by, this is where the UIC experience begins.

The welcome desk — your first stop for admissions, TOEFL and English-language program details, and everything Eagle Rays.

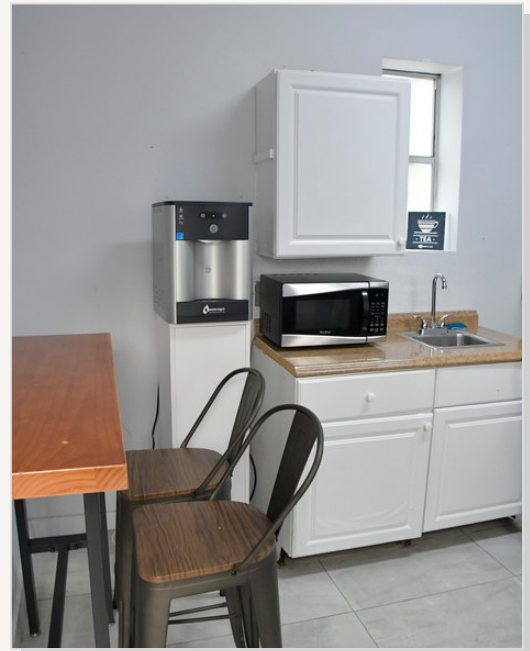

Student Lounge & Café

A place to recharge

Just past reception, a comfortable lounge invites students to relax between classes. A large video wall keeps the community connected, and a self-serve café around the corner offers filtered water, hot tea, and a quick bite from the microwave — everything you need to recharge.

The video wall puts UIC's programs and student life front and center.

Eagle Rays Spirit

Wear your pride

GO EAGLE RAYS!

At the Home of the Eagle Rays, school pride runs deep. From performance tees to tanks and shorts, our spirit wear in the Eagle Rays' signature maroon, black, and grey lets students, athletes, and fans represent UIC on campus and beyond.

Leadership & Communications

Behind the scenes

Guiding the College

UIC's leadership keeps the College running and its story growing. The offices of the Director of UIC and the Director of Communications anchor this wing, where the walls celebrate hard-earned credentials and original artwork by the UIC community.

From data to design, much of UIC's digital and creative work happens in-house.

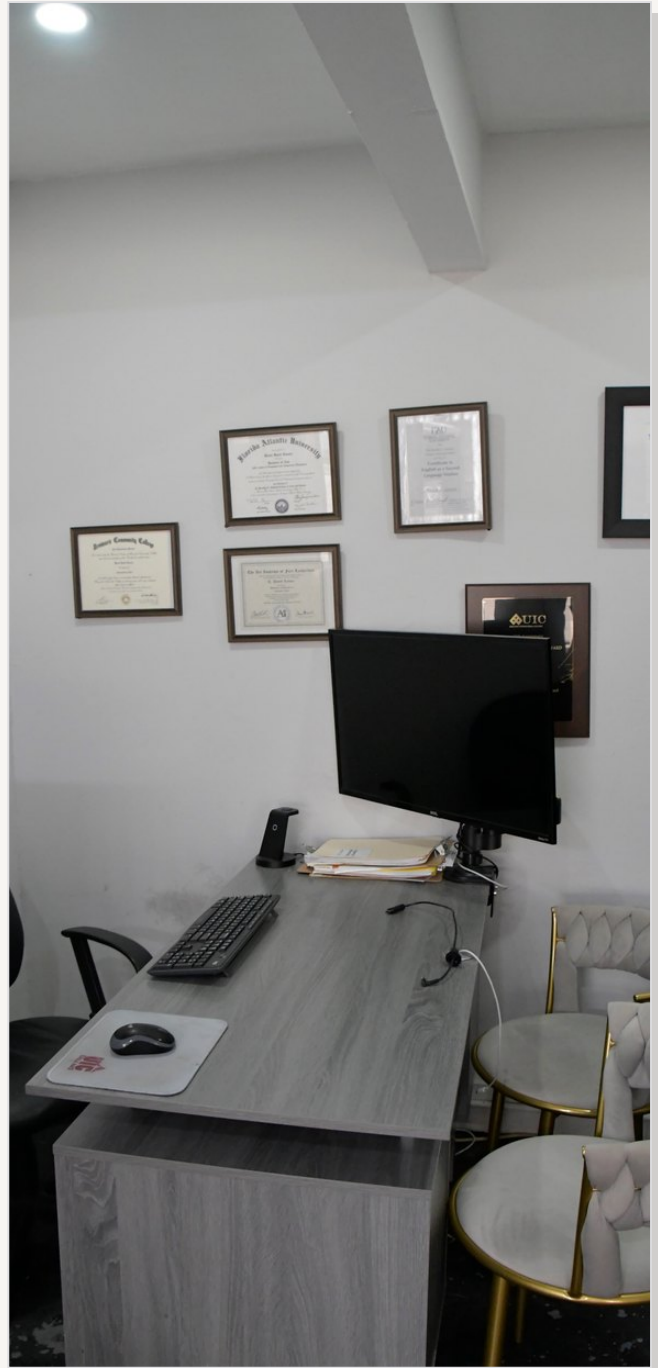

Faculty & Advisor Offices

Always an open door

UIC's faculty and advisors keep their doors open. These personal offices — lined with framed degrees from universities across Florida and beyond, and the College's certificate of accreditation — are where students get the one-on-one guidance that defines a UIC education.

Framed degrees tell the story of an experienced faculty.

Where Students Feel at Home

Advising & student support

Comfortable, thoughtfully decorated offices give every conversation a personal touch. From admissions and international student services to academic advising and support, these welcoming spaces are designed to put students at ease.

Celebrating Our Graduates

A quarter-century of Eagle Rays

A wall of commencement portraits traces UIC's proud history — from the earliest classes through the Class of 2026 and the College's 25th anniversary. Every frame represents students who arrived with ambition and left as UIC alumni.

Meeting & Conference Rooms

Built for collaboration

Beyond the boardroom, UIC's meeting and conference rooms flex for workshops, group study, and film screenings. One room showcases documentaries produced by UIC students — including United in Diversity — while sound-treated walls and modular tables keep every space ready for collaboration.

Classrooms & Student Gallery

Where learning meets art

UIC's bright, flexible classrooms come wired for projectors and ready for everything from English-language courses to test prep. Many double as a student gallery, with framed photography by the UIC community turning everyday learning spaces into a celebration of student work.

College Green

Step outside

Room to breathe

Step outside and the campus opens onto the College Green — a shaded lawn anchored by a sprawling old banyan tree whose canopy stretches wide over the grounds. It's a quiet spot to read, gather, or just enjoy the South Florida sun between classes.

Out back, an open courtyard with a basketball hoop and fire pit gives students room to unwind.
